

LUST AT FIRST SIGHT

As boutique hotels go, Wanderlust is about as madcap and experimental as you can get. Located in Little India, the building was originally a school built in the 1920s. The inspiration of hip hotelier Loh Lik Peng, the 29 rooms over four levels are the artistic expressions of four award winning design houses: Industrial Glam by Asylum (lobby and restaurant); Eccentricity by :phunk Studio (second level); Is It Just Black and White? by DP Architects (third level); and Creature Comforts by fFurious (fourth level). The designers were given complete artistic reign and the results, ah well, different. Let the wanderlust take you to Little India to see, if not stay, then to ogle. Or dine at Cocotte French restaurant.

The Wanderlust is located at 2 Dickson Road.
